

This PDF is generated from: <https://www.ledact.co.za/Mon-24-Nov-2025-20971.html>

Title: Department for international development uk

Generated on: 2026-04-17 09:52:05

Copyright (C) 2026 LEDACT SOLAR BATTERY. All rights reserved.

For the latest updates and more information, visit our website: <https://www.ledact.co.za>

As the first separate government department dedicated to reducing worldwide poverty through sustainable development, its humanitarian expertise ...

OverviewMissionHistoryBudgetDFID researchFurther readingExternal linksThe Department for International Development (DFID) was a ministerial department of the government of the United Kingdom, from 1997 to 2020. It was responsible for administering foreign aid internationally. The DFID was founded by the UK government in 1997. The department was established by the Labour government under Prime Minister Tony Blair. The structur...

With Keir Starmer attending a Commonwealth Heads of Government meeting in Samoa, and a pre-budget briefing in the Financial Times hinting at ...

FCDO leads the UK government's diplomatic, development and consular work around the world. FCDO was created following the merger of the Department for International Development (DFID) with the ...

Our work is building a safer, healthier, more prosperous world for people in developing countries and in the UK too. This site shows in detail the international development programmes led by...

The Department for International Development (DFID) was set up in 1997. We employ around 3,600 staff who work in our offices in London, East Kilbride and globally.

The UK's Department for International Development both tackled poverty around the world and strengthened Britain's global reputation - but then ...

Our International Development Strategy is a central part of a coherent UK foreign policy. The principles of free markets, free trade, effective ...

Department development uk

for international

Web: <https://www.ledact.co.za>

